QUIET ELECTION CAMPAIGN IN FINAL STAGES

Congressional Contest Holds Center of Interest; Plans Made for Tuesday Vote.

By W. T. BUCHANAN What for the most part has been a listless political campaign in Marion county is drawing rapidly to a close and will reach its climax next Tuesday when voters go to the polls to express their preference for state, district and county candidates. With the local residents leaving every few days for service in the army and navy, the public interest in defense plants going up here and the war in general, Marion county citizens have had little thought for the election. Without doubt the major interest in the campaign has been generated by the contest between Francis C. Smith, Republican, and Brown Fletcher, a son of Marion, for the Eighth district seat in congress.

Although this would have been a red hot campaign in normal times, the voters this year have been so busy that they have neglected the election. Party organizations, too, have neglected the election. Party organizations, too, have neglected the election. Party organizations, too, have neglected the election.

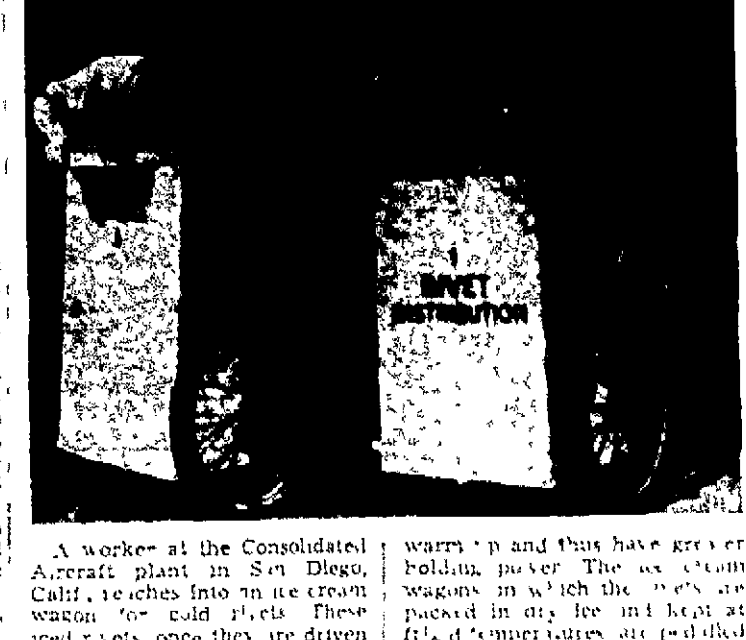

Forecast Is Statewide Forecasts by county election officials of a light vote in the county Tuesday are in line with similar estimates for the state made by election authorities in the office of the secretary of state. A vote of 13,000 has been predicted for the county as compared to nearly 22,000 two years ago. The state secretary's office has forecast the Ohio vote at 1,750,000. Two years ago the vote was more than 3,000,000. While the state election turnout is usually smaller than the vote in a presidential year, other factors are expected to further reduce the number of ballots cast next week. Among them is the general apathy of the electorate, the lack of work in war industries where many Marion voters are employed and the fact that a sizeable number of voters have left the county for service in the armed forces.

Five Ballots In City Marion voters will receive five ballots when they enter the polls. They will be the regular party column ballot listing the names of candidates for state, district and county offices, the non-partisan judicial ballot for the district court of appeals and the state supreme court, the city sewer tax referendum ballot, the city school tax levy ballot and a ballot the state constitutional amendment. The constitutional amendment ballot proposes a change in the state constitution governing the appointment of judges by the governor to fill vacancies. At present the governor's appointees serve until the next regular election after the appointment is made. The proposed amendment would change this to make the appointment good for the unexpired term of the regularly elected judge.

Special Proposals The city school levy proposes a two-mill tax levy to run for three years to provide funds for school operation. The sewer tax issue is a referendum on the proposal of the council to levy an annual tax of one cent on the value of property in the city. BUILDING NEAR LA RUE BURNED

Loss Estimated at $6,000 as Dr. Hoopes' Property Is Destroyed.

LA RUE, O., Oct. 31—Two automobiles, 500 bushels of soybeans, most of the machinery needed to operate a 150-acre farm, and the equipment and laboratory of Dr. H. A. Hoopes, Marion county veterinarian, were destroyed when fire broke out in the barn on his farm, about a mile north of La Rue, early this morning. Dr. Hoopes estimated the loss at $6,000 and said it was partially covered by insurance. His laboratory, operating room and office were located in the barn. The new La Rue truck built by the Harley Engineering Service at Prospect and delivered this week, made its first run in answering the call to the Hoopes farm. However, the fire had gained too much headway for the barn to be saved. The boiler tank and hose from the truck were used to save a nearby building and considerable trading endangered by the fire. Dr. Hoopes discovered the fire about 4:30 a. m., about an hour after he returned home from making a call to a farm south of La Rue. When he returned he sat for about an hour reading and when he arose to go to bed he looked out the window and saw the barn in flames. Short Circuit Blamed He said he believes the fire was started by a short circuit in the automobile he had put in the barn when he returned from the call. Dr. Hoopes, active in the American Legion and 10 clubs, is known throughout the state and national organizations of the veterans' groups.

OFFICER CRITICIZES COLUMBUS BLACKOUT

By The Associated Press COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 31—Robert S. Harsh, army liaison officer, today expressed disappointment over last night's 10-minute trial blackout of metropolitan Columbus and urged the city's defense officials to "run down" all violators.

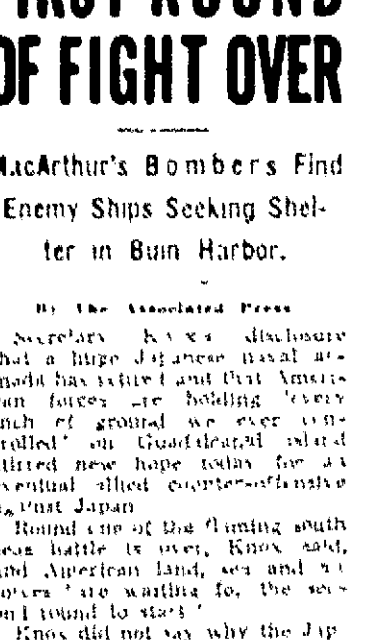

Colonel Harsh, who viewed the 10-minute test from atop the capital's tallest building, the A. J. J. tower, said he could see "plenty of violations." Paul R. Gingham, commander of the city's defense corps, asserted that violators would be "called in," but did not disclose what action, if any, would be taken against them. He added that lights left burning "were primarily in business places where no one was in attendance and where air raid wardens could do nothing about it."

Candidates Meet Before Cleveland City Club.

By The Associated Press

Gov. Bricker, seeking a third term, and his Democratic opponent, John McSweeney, met face-to-face today before the Cleveland City club to debate campaign issues.

The meeting, three days before the election, climaxes a campaign unhinged recently by charges of old age pension manipulation and personality attacks.

McSweeney told 450 Democratic women in Cincinnati last night if the city had received "its proper share of the Bricker surplus, you would have had the money to pay city employees" now striking for higher wages.

"This is just one more phase of the double taxation I have been stressing," he asserted.

Earlier he called Bricker "a professed dry who has done nothing to enforce the (liquor) law but sneezed into the homes of fraternal and veterans' organizations."

FACTS and RECORD Prove Mr. Fletcher WRONG AGAIN!!

LOOK AT THE RECORD ON THE PHONY GUAM FORTIFICATION ISSUE

The facts are Congress has never been asked since January 3, 1939, when Congressman Smith took office, to authorize or appropriate for the fortification of Guam!! MR. FLETCHER KNOWS THIS.

And the proof can be obtained at any city library in the 8th Ohio Congressional District by reading the House debate on H.R. 4278 in the February 21, 1939 issue of the Congressional Record. You will find the following statements:

Mr. Vinson, Democrat of Georgia, Chairman of Naval Affairs Committee, said: "I repeat again, nothing in this bill authorizes fortification at Guam."

Admiral Leahy, then ranking Naval officer, testified before the Committee, "The authorization bill does not provide for the development of a base at Guam."

Mr. Richards, Democrat of South Carolina, member of the Naval Affairs Committee, said, "Guam cannot stand alone as an American possession in that part of the Pacific. * * * It is conceivable that we might lose hundreds of millions of dollars in defense equipment and thousands of lives in the name of national pride and honor should we embark on a course leading toward the fortification of this island. CARDINGTON GIRL STRUCK BY AUTO

Driver Fined Following Mishap; Victim's Ankle Broken.

Sylvia Berry, 16, of Cardington, is in City hospital for treatment of a broken right ankle, suffered yesterday when she was struck by an automobile driven by Robert E. Hinderlong, 27, of near Cardington.

Hinderlong, arrested by the state patrol and charged with reckless operation of his car, was fined $20 and costs when he was taken before Mayor Frank Allga of Cardington.

The accident occurred at 5:30 p. m. four miles west of Cardington on State Route 746.

According to the state patrol report, Miss Berry and Lucille Fowler, 17, of near Cardington, were walking south on the highway and Hinderlong was driving in the same direction.

The patrol reported that Hinderlong apparently drove too close to the girls before he sounded the car horn and struck Miss Berry as she started to jump into the ditch along the highway. The car went into the ditch and broke off a six-inch sapling.

Alva Gordon, working in a nearby field, saw the accident. He took Miss Berry to the hospital.

Hinderlong was released after arranging to pay the fine and costs.

HUSBAND OF GALION WOMAN SAFE IN U. S.

William Fleiner Returns from Solomon Islands.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR
GALION, Oct. 31.—"Lucky to be back," was the message over long-distance telephone from San Francisco, Calif., from William Fleiner, 30, seaman in the U. S. Navy who called his wife in Galion early Friday to tell her that he had just arrived from the Solomons.

Fleiner, who enlisted in the navy, April 6, 1942, at Mansfield, will have a 15-day furlough, and is coming to Galion to spend it with his wife. He called her as soon as he landed in San Francisco. Although the connections were poor and he could hardly hear her, Mrs. Fleiner who is the former Alberta Schnelker, said that she could hear him plainly enough. She was somewhat frightened when the call was made at 12:30 a. m. Friday, but so happy to hear her husband's

Had Successful Career as Physician and Surgeon:

Moving to N. Y.

By HALLIE HOUCK

A career of 46 years as a physician and surgeon in Marion and Crawford counties closed today for Dr. A. A. Starner of 518 East Church street.

Tonight at 7 Dr. and Mrs. Starner will board the Southwestern Limited for New York City, where they will live.

Dr. Starner's office in the Citizens Building & Loan Co. building at West Center and Prospect streets is being closed. A collection agency is being opened in a room on the same floor as the office and is in charge of Mrs. Owen H. Scott of 226 Lake street. Dr. Starner's secretary for 26 years.

In New York Dr. and Mrs. Starner will live at Apartment 6-1, 40 West 87th street.

Dr. Starner's career in medicine ranged from the days of the horse-and-buggy to the late years when he had expensive cars and a driver.

Devoted to medicine, personally concerned with the welfare of his patients, Dr. Starner had the reputation of never turning down a call, no matter how early the morning hour, how late at night, or how tired he himself might be after an exhausting day.

He watched sleep between calls, "cat-napping" while his driver took him on his rounds of calls.

Neither Dr. Starner nor his secretary could say the other day how many patients he has seen in his nearly half-century of practice, how many operations he has performed, how many babies he has delivered.

Extensive Travel
Conservatively Dr. Starner has traveled a million miles during his years of practice, not counting the 14 years he traveled by horse and buggy. He bought his first car in 1910 and estimates he has had 25 cars in the ensuing years. Few of the cars were driven more than a few months over a year and each of them had at least 40,000 miles recorded when sold.

Dr. Starner practiced both medicine and surgery and had one of the largest practices among doctors in this area. He began his career in 1896 in Galion and operated a private hospital there until 1914 when he moved to the Trumbull building on South Main street.

He moved his office here shortly after the Erie railroad division offices and shops came here from Galion. Many men and women of Marion who were small children when their families moved here with the Erie were born in Galion with Dr. Starner as the attending physician.

Recently Dr. Starner recalled his horse-and-buggy days. Those were the days of literally knee-deep mud roads, of operating in farm homes with virtually no equipment, of attending patients with every kind of complaint imaginable. He regards that as an invaluable period of his career—he became the most general of "general practitioners."

Aside from a couple of spills from the buggy and nearly being struck by a train at the Galion crossing Dr. Starner met with no accidents until June 5, 1935, when he suffered fractures of the spine in an automobile accident near South Charleston, O.

Neither Dr. nor Mrs. Starner have been in good health for the last year. Although Dr. Starner continued to be in his office daily—he was seeing patients yesterday afternoon—he has not operated at the hospital for months.

At the age of 17 Dr. Starner voice and to know that he had survived the fight in the Solomons, she said.

Fleiner, who is a Crestline boy, and his wife, were married more than a year and a half ago. He was employed at the Shelby Tube company in Shelby before his enlistment in April. He trained at Great Lakes, Ill.

Mrs. Fleiner lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Schnelker here.

Fleiner is a son of Mrs. William Fleiner of Crestline. He has two brothers in the service, David in the navy and George in the army.

present examination to become a police officer and a captain in the Marion Police Department. Today, about two months ago, he was promoted into the position of sergeant. He is a very capable officer and a very capable man. He is a very capable man and a very capable officer.

Dr. Starner was graduated with honor from the physicians and surgeons college of the University of Illinois and did post-graduate work at Polytechnic Institute in Chicago. His internship was served in Chicago hospitals.

Married in 1899. Three years after he opened his first office in Galion, on Aug. 29, 1899, to be exact, and Emma Snyder of Glenmont in Holmes county were married.

Five of their six children are living: Joel in Cleveland, Mrs. J. Cullen of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Virginia Waters of Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y., Mr. Genevieve Andrews of Holyoke, Mass., and Jane of New York City. A daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Frazier, died in September of 1941. They have eight grandchildren.

When Dr. Starner came here from Galion he practiced in the Trumbull building office for several years, and then built the Marion building on South Main street, now housing the offices of the Marion-Reserve Power Co. After five years there he moved his office to the Citizens Building & Loan Co. building.

Dr. and Mrs. Starner are members of St. Mary Catholic church. Mrs. Starner is a member of the Tuesday Study club and the Sewing circle of St. Mary church.

Dr. Starner, a member of the American, Ohio and Marion medical organizations, also is a member of the local lodges of the Knights of Columbus, B. P. O. Elks, F. O. Eagles and L. O. O. Morse.

Attractive and Convenient Design

This attractive house of early American inspiration uses a compact four-room plan as its main unit. The garage is housed in a separate wing approached through the kitchen which has its own attractive porch leading to a play yard, enclosed in a Colonial picket fence. The well-proportioned rooms of the house plan can lend themselves to a variety of decorative schemes as they open individually from a central hallway with the exception of the dining space which occupies one end of the living room. A shelved fixture for bric-a-brac can effectively separate these two sections without detracting from the spaciousness of the original layout, as shown in the photograph.

CONVERSION METHOD HELPS WAR HOUSING

Existing Houses Changed Into Multiple Units in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 31.—The program of conversion of existing houses into multi-family dwelling units through the use of application form PD-406 and the issuance of preference rating P-110 has been effective in producing additional dwelling units in a very economical manner.

12 PERMITS FOR CONSTRUCTION WORK

Week's Total Is $25,265, Well Above Preceding Period.

Twelve building permits for construction estimated to cost $24,285 were issued last week by City Clerk Mayne Gorton. The permits included six to Lloyd Dillon of Mansfield for homes on the east side of Clover avenue between Church street and Indiana avenue, to be built under FHA at a cost of $4,000 each.

Home Ownership Ratio Showing Decline in U. S.

WASHINGTON — While the number of owner-occupied homes in non-farm areas rose from 10,678,304 in 1930 to 11,413,161 in 1940, home ownership did not keep pace with the increase in families, according to the May issue of the Federal Home Loan Bank Review.

Building Quiz

Q. What is the best way to fire a furnace to get the most out of fuel?
A. To maintain an efficient fire, don't shovel coal just two or three times a day, loading in as much fuel as possible each time. This results in a heat loss up to 50 per cent, since the glowing coals underneath gradually warm through the fresh coal, releasing volatile gases which go up the chimney unburned. Too much draft is also detrimental, as it will pull heat from the firebox into the chimney before the furnace's heating surface can transfer it to the radiators or registers. An oil burner is most efficient when it burns with a bright yellow-orange flame that has a barely noticeable tinge of dark smoke at the tip.

Someone Should Apologize

INCREDULOUSLY, anxious Americans hear that Gen. Douglas MacArthur denies he has political ambitions which could have caused him to be hamstrung by a divided command in the Pacific. Surely there can have been no time in Washington since last Dec. 7 for this sort of thing.

If anything connected with political maneuvering is remotely responsible for today's desperate situation in the southwest Pacific, someone will be held answerable to the American people. This is not the army-navy football game any more. This is war, with the lives of thousands of America's finest young men in the balance. This is not a contest to see who can outstep the other fellow, but a contest to see whether the United States is going to be driven out of the western Pacific by the raiders who swarmed down on Pearl Harbor.

The people who are going to do the fighting and sacrificing in this war have retained the right to do some of the criticizing, too. Washington knows they were puzzled about Pearl Harbor; the Roberts commission was sent out there to make an investigation for the people's benefit. They were puzzled about Bataan. They were puzzled about the fiasco at Singapore, and they have been puzzled about the action in the Aleutians. Throughout the war in the Pacific, they have had to give their government and their military services the benefit of their doubts.

When the supreme commander of the southwest Pacific tells he must state publicly that it couldn't have been his political ambitions that caused him to become part of a divided command in the Pacific area, someone should apologize to every anxious family shocked at such a possibility. If the current action there seems to be affected unfavorably by lack of unified command, someone will have to apologize. The people's puzzlement over this glibly issued statement of unified command will turn to righteous indignation.

Snow and Colder

IN NORTHERN Russia winter has come down in earnest and even in the south the fighting season has been terminated by low temperatures and snow. Ski troops are mentioned in dispatches, and any day now the picture services will be releasing more of those marvelous snowscapes of the battle areas.

By official admission the Germans suffered heavily in Russia last winter. Their manpower and machines both became casualties of the sub-zero temperatures. Repetition of last winter's distress obviously would be damaging to Hitler's prestige with his own soldiers and their relatives.

It remains to be seen whether he admitted his misgivings by preparing the German army for another winter, or actually succeeded in convincing himself that this winter the war with Russia would be over. If he failed to authorize complete preparations, lest he hurt the morale of the men who would have to survive another Russian winter, the results soon will be manifest in the beginning of another slow retreat like the one that created the illusion of a Russian advance last winter.

Government of All the People

PUBLIC interest in the government's anti-trust suit against The Associated Press grows from realization that an underlying principle of great importance is at stake. Aside from details of the government's allegations and the reply by The Associated Press setting forth the organization's legal defense is the fundamental question of whether political authority should be used to advance individual or minority interests.

It is clear to those who try to look objectively at The Associated Press suit that there is a case of government befriending with its influence one specific unit of the American press against many other units of the press. The presumption is that this unit has found favor because of its nature as a newspaper less inclined to be critical of the government than many of the other newspapers which, as members of Associated Press, now are being attacked indirectly. The government's suit to force that organization into acceptance of a newspaper member it has voted to exclude bears the stamp of partisanship.

This willingness to bring the weight of government to bear on matters of at least questionable value in advancement of broad national interests has been the subject of comment in the case of union organization, for instance, where government seemed to promote the interests of a particular interest against some other interest and, some observers felt, against all interests. It is a way of thinking in Washington that has disturbed persons with no special feeling in cases where it has been used—a way of thinking which, pursued far enough, could change government for the people into government for the favored people.

British and U. S. War Aims Compared with Those of China, India.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WE DO not know, from Mr. Willkie's address, whether he took the opportunity of discussing with his hosts in the East the difficult and searching questions which they put to him. Presumably he did, and presumably what he told us on the radio Monday evening is only what they said to him, and not what he, as a semi-official ambassador from the West, must in frankness and candor have said to them.

For surely he cannot have allowed them to think that he thinks that on all counts we and our British allies stand convicted. He was told, for example, that the peoples of Asia know what they are fighting for, but that they do not know what we are fighting for. But, as a matter of fact, it is true that the war aims of General Chiang Kai-shek and of Mr. Gandhi are not clear, while our war aims are not.

We must hope that on the subject of imperialism he did not fail to explain to General Chiang Kai-shek that we are at war with Japan because we refused the repeated and persistent offers of the Japanese government to settle all our differences at the expense of the Chinese people and the last people on earth who have the right to question our good faith, and what we did in refusing to sell out China in her darkest hour is more important than all the words that can be pronounced on the subject of war aims and of liberty and justice.

British Stand

We must hope also that Mr. Willkie did not fail to explain in Chungking that we are able to be the fighting ally of China only because the British nations stand steadfast and true and all alone for over a year against our other enemy in Europe. We must hope, when Britain's devotion to the independence of weak nations was asserted, that Mr. Willkie reminded his hosts of Poland and of Norway and of Holland and Belgium and of Greece, and pointed out to them that no other people in the world has given greater proofs of a willingness to take awful risks in coming to the help of others. For if Britain were to renounce the present imperialist power that ungrateful man make her out to be, Britain could long ago have found ways to strike a bargain, if not with Hitler then with the German Army, at the expense of Russia and eastern Europe.

We shall not do justice in the East by doing injustice to the British or to ourselves. We shall not make the grand alliance of the United Nations effective and victorious by failing to state that subtle and unconscious and inverted form of imperialist condescension which assumes that we alone, the British and ourselves, are responsible for the future of Asia, and that if India, for example, is not united and independent and a strong fighting ally it is all our fault.

Thus I should like to know what Mr. Willkie learned about the real intentions of Gandhi and the Congress party, and what in his judgment would be the practical results of entrusting the government of India to them now. The record, as set forth in quotations from what Gandhi has said about the war, has been compiled by a Hindu journalist, Mr. T. A. Raman, in a book called "What Does Gandhi Want?" That record ought to be studied by every one who feels called upon to take a position on the Indian question.

What Gandhi Wrote

On June 19, 1940, when France fell, this is what Gandhi wrote in his weekly paper: "The bravery of the French soldier is world-known. But let the world know also the great bravery of the French statesmen in suing for peace."

On July 6, 1940, Gandhi issued "an appeal to every Briton" in which he said: "I would like you to lay down the arms you have as being useless for saving you or humanity. You will invite Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini to take what they want of the countries you call your possessions. Let them take possession of your beautiful island, with your many beautiful buildings. You will give all these but neither your soul, nor your minds. If these gentlemen choose to occupy your homes, you will vacate them. If they do not give you free passage out, you will allow yourself, man, woman and child, to be slaughtered, but you will refuse to owe allegiance to them."

On July 14 of this year, he was asked this question: "Would the free Indian government permit the United Nations to use Indian territory as a base of military operations against Japan and other Axis powers?" To this he replied in his weekly paper that "if I have any hand in guiding the imagined national government, there would be no further assistance save the toleration of the United Nations on Indian soil under well defined conditions. Naturally there will be no prohibition against any Indian soldier being permitted to help by way of being a guerrilla and giving financial aid. It should be understood that the Indian army has been disbanded with the withdrawal of the British."

Mr. Willkie reported that "the wisest man in China" told him that: "When the aspiration of India for freedom was put aside to some future date, it was not Great Britain that suffered in public esteem in the Far East. It was the United States." I wish he could tell us what the wisest man in China thinks we ought to do about Gandhi. Then we could begin to talk about realities.

Prolonging Our Lives

Doctor Believes We Can Now Reach Average Age of 75.

POINTING out that the average length of life is now 65 years and can reach without too much trouble 75 years, Morris Fishbein, M.D., Chicago, editor of Hygiene, The Health Magazine, in an editorial in the November issue declares that "What is needed in order to make more people live to be 75 years of age is still further improvement in dissemination of the knowledge now available to scientific medicine."

"Out of 100,000 infants born in 1870, only 30,000 were expected to survive to the age of 65. Actually, however, 42,000 survived to the age of 65—because of the improvement in medical science, public health and general welfare. The American population is becoming older. In 1850 only 2.6 per cent of our population were 65 years of age. In 1940 it was 4.1 per cent, and in 1940, 6.8 per cent. By 1980 it is estimated that those who are 65 years of age or over will constitute almost 15 per cent of our total population."

"According to Biblical legend, the years of man are three score and ten. The life cycle may be divided into 20 years of growth, 30 years of maturity and 20 years of gradual breakdown. However, many people live beyond 70 years of age. Some people live to be 100 years or over. Since human beings can live to be 100 years of age, it would be well perhaps to set the life span at that age. However, Louis I. Dublin, eminent statistician in the field of medicine, feels that the average length of life is now 65 years and can reach without too much trouble 75 years."

Infant Mortality Reduced
"Already, infant mortality has been reduced in some of our large communities to a rate of 29 in comparison with a rate of more than 200 fifty years ago. When only 29 out of every thousand babies that are born die in the first year, that rate begins to reach the irreducible minimum. Possibly, however, further improvement in prenatal care and in the mechanism of childbirth will bring a reduction even in the rate of 29."

"More and more is being done to control the infectious diseases of childhood. Much can be done to eliminate the accidents now responsible for carrying away many people unnecessarily. Accidents of all types are now fifth in the list of the causes of death. Such adverse influences can be controlled by intelligent human beings."

Most important in prolonging life after 50 are sound rules of diet and personal hygiene and suitable attention to the detection of degenerative diseases at the earliest possible moment.

"We have not previously had a sufficiently large population of the aged to evaluate scientifically all the hazards that confront the aged human being nor to develop the necessary improvements in preventive and curative medicine to meet the hazards that arise. More is being learned now about these matters. The accumulation of new information may in our own lifetime bring about great advances that will mean much toward prolongation of life. For example, the new methods of detecting early the enlargement of the prostate gland that interferes with the function of elimination and the use of the new procedure called transurethral resection, which permits control of this condition by relatively simple procedures, are bound to have an appreciable effect on the death rate from this cause."

A New Specialty

"A new specialty is growing in medical science called geriatrics, which means the care of the aged. More and more physicians are becoming interested in gerontology, a study of the problems of the aged. The old age security laws will unquestionably help to mitigate the hardships of those of advanced years who are now economically dependent. The combination of all the various considerations that are now being given to the degenerative diseases, to the hygiene of the heart, the liver and the kidneys must yield an improvement in life expectancy at least to 75 years of age in our time."

"The biologic and medical sciences have advanced much further in their consideration of the problems of aging than have the social sciences."
"Seneca said that old age is an incurable disease. John Dewey sees hope in progress. 'When we shall envisage social relations and institutions in the light of the contribution they are capable of making to continued growth,' he said, 'when we are capable of criticizing those which exist on the ground of the ways in which they arrest and deflect processes of growth, we shall be on our way to a solution of the moral and psychological problems of human aging.'"

New High School Training

Plan Is To Have Boys All Ready for Armed Forces.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 — A plan is in the works for a complete physical reconditioning of American youth in high schools so that they can step directly into the armed forces or into the wartime labor front with no effort whatever.

It will be announced soon by the U. S. Office of Education, in November and December, nine regional institutes will be held in the nine army corps areas. To New York, Cincinnati, Boston, Chicago, Lincoln, Austin, Atlanta, Berkeley, California, and Baltimore, outstanding educators and physical education directors will be called to launch the program.

The idea is primarily to increase the time and the strenuousness of the present physical education program. In recent years, the emphasis has been on "recreational exercise." It has been all easy come, easy go and let's have fun.

Entirely Different

If the high schools follow the suggestions of the office of education, all that is going on now, board. Physical fitness will become a part of the total war effort. Physical education will be "glamorized" in terms of modern warfare. There will be daily periods of "gym" equal in length to other subject periods. After a month or more of daily conditioning in good old-fashioned calisthenics the students will be asked to jump into about 10 hours a week additional of competitive sports, mass athletics, week end camping.

Ultimately this 10 hours of extra-curricular activity would be increased to 15 a week, with such things as woodcraft, camp craft, swimming, aviation ground schools and gliding in the regular routine.

All of this has grown out of the Army reports on selectees. American youth, the Army says, is generally lacking in "ability to live comfortably and safely in open country" — is lacking in strength, endurance, stamina and body coordination.

Much Training Needed

Other things had to be held up while the Army youngsters were being taught to climb a rope, a Rumanian, with 100,000 lei has carry burdens equal to their own weight, vault out of trenches as high as their chests, swim long distances fully clothed and with additional weights (equipment), walk and run 10 miles in two hours, jump and fall without injury, march a mile in 12 minutes, and lift a person near their own weight off the floor and carry him 20 yards in eight seconds.

Try your own children or yourself on a few of these things if you must, but don't say I didn't warn you.

If you can do all of that plus such things as walk and run two miles in 20 minutes shoot moving targets (sneezes, ducks, geese or quail will do), can dress or undress in 4 to 6 minutes, and are aggressive in competitive sports, then you have arrived at the point where you can enter the armed forces or war work without flinching.

Just then the elk jumped up and ran away and the hunters never caught sight of it again.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Oct. 31, 1932. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, opening the final week of his campaign for the presidency, invaded the Republican state of Maine to plead for support from the C.O.P. of New England. He was the first Democratic presidential candidate to visit the state since William Jennings Bryan went there in 1896. President Hoover, campaigning for reelection, launched his final week with a speech in Baltimore.

Dr. J. E. Baker, who had been ill at his home on East Center street, was reported improving. Men of the Railway Mail Service and their wives were guests at a "three times" party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Shipley at their home on Edgewood drive. Mrs. V. W. Orrison and Robert Knight of Delaware won costume prizes.

The Mutt and Jeff club gave its opening dance of the season in the midst of a Halloween setting at the Marion City club. Thirty-five couples danced to music by Happy Andrews' orchestra from Fosteria. On the committee in charge were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Bower, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bacon, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Almsier, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Bindley, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Colley, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haberman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huber and Edgar Barnhart.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, Oct. 31, 1922. Eight persons were killed and sixteen wounded in a clash between Fascists and communists in the Sibiriano quarter of Rome. Sixty thousand members of the Fascist made a demonstration of power and loyalty to the king. They marched before the quirenal with shouts of "Long live the king" and "We are loyal to our king." The new Fascist cabinet headed by Premier Mussolini was sworn in and began to function.

In a statement Mussolini said he would maintain a friendly policy toward the allies and would not undertake "foreign adventures." He said, "My hope is finally to give discipline to Italy."

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Prendergast returned from a two weeks' visit in Washington. They reported that Mrs. Harding was recovering rapidly from her recent illness.

Mrs. C. L. Hart of Washington avenue left for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Edward Furman of Pleasant.

Bill Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster of South Vine street, who was injured when he fell off a sliding board several days before, was recovering at City hospital.

The feature picture at the Marion theater was "The Ruling Passion" starring George Arliss and at the Grand the feature was "In the Name of the Law."

Mrs. E. A. Ault entertained a company of friends at a Halloween masquerade party at her home on Forest street.

Miss Gladys Irvin was hostess to the K. K. club at a masquerade party at her home on Canby court.

A Halloween dance took place at the Marion Country club with music by Sharp's five-piece orchestra.

Halloween Witches Easy
To Shoo, Says Professor

Defying the old superstitions, Professor Benjamin A. Cartwright shooes a black Persian cat as he works at his desk.

By HOWARD BRISCO
Wide World Feature

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 31 — A mouthful of tobacco, chewed viciously, will drive off witches and goblins that otherwise might haunt you on Halloween night.

But if you would choose witches in preference to chewing tobacco, you still can play safe by driving three nails in a triangular design on your door.

You don't believe it? Well, there are thousands who do—so many, in fact, that Benjamin A.
Cartwright, a national authority on superstitions, long ago abandoned as hopeless his campaign to disprove them.

Cartwright, a keen-eyed professor of education at the University of Oklahoma, now lets people believe what they like about the baleful aspects of black cats, umbrellas and spilled salt.

"The influence of superstition on the lives of Americans must be tremendous," says the 47-year-old educator, "but there's nothing you can do about it. They cling to the queer beliefs handed down to them."

All Phones

The fact there's not a grain of truth in more than 20,000 strange notions he has classified does not lessen Cartwright's enjoyment of his hobby. When he comes across a new one he is as jubilant as a golfer who has made a hole in one.

Cats, contends the professor, stoking the coal-black Persian dozing on his desk, are the most malignant animals in the field of superstition.

His files show that according to the superstitious, a white cat is every whit as bad as a black one —and a yellow tabby is worse.

If you have always wondered what witches really look like, just toss a pinch of salt into any convenient whirlwind and you'll see them on their broomsticks going gustily about their nefarious business. Or so the superstitious believe.

Having seen witches, you might decide you would like to be one.
In that case, load a rifle with silver bullets and fire nine times at the moon.

Easily Conquered

Don't be too seriously concerned about a possible encounter with a witch. Cartwright's files contain hundreds of simple methods of outwitting them.

For instance, people who believe such things say you should just slide a dime under the hearth.
Witches can't abide silver in any form. As a further precaution, wear your hat backward and the old hussies will flee before you.

When he had only 5,000 or so superstitions in his collection Cartwright used to think he had them all, but during the past year he has added 5,000 cards to the files, and has hundreds more that must be inspected and catalogued.

No region of the United States is free of superstition, he is convinced. However, the Ozarks and the river region of Mississippi have produced a large proportion of the collection.

Here It Is!
How Congressman Smith
HELPED JAPAN
As Told To You In His OWN Words

This is a friendly reply to Congressman Dr. Frederick C. Smith's advertisement in the papers throughout the Eighth District in which he asks his opponent who armed Japan.

In the Marion Star, Page 13, Oct. 31, 1940, Congressman Smith in his own paid advertisement says:

HE VOTED AGAINST THE DEFENSE OF GUAM ISLAND IN THE FAR PACIFIC BECAUSE IT IS TOO FAR REMOVED FROM "OUR SPHERE OF DEFENSE."

Can you imagine a man advertising a statement like that in a campaign for Congress?

Doctor Smith actually paid the Marion Star to publish this example of his bad judgment in helping Japan by opposing the defense of Guam Island because in his wrong opinion he says it is too far removed from "our sphere of defense."

Ask the fathers and mothers of the American Marines slaughtered by the Japs on Guam Island what they think of Congressman Smith's idea that Guam Island is too far removed to bother about defense.

HOW HIROHITO THE JAP WOULD VOTE

Had Hirohito, the Jap, represented this Eighth District in Congress instead of Dr. Smith then Hirohito, the Jap, would have voted exactly the same way Dr. Smith voted. But it is not likely that he would have advertised his act in the newspapers to the people of this Eighth District and then expected them to elect him to Congress next Tuesday, November 3d.

In his own words Dr. Smith advertises in the newspaper how he indirectly failed America and helped Japan.

Do the people need any more proof that the Eighth Ohio District should have a new Congressman to back up our soldiers and government in winning the war and winning the peace after the war?

LOOK AT THIS PICTURE

When you look at the murdered American Marine's helmet hanging from the bloody bayonet
of the Japanese soldier,
ask yourself if it is fair to our American Marine fighters and the soldiers on all fronts to keep in Congress from this district after Tuesday,
November 3, a congressman who lacks the judgment and foresight to recognize the dangers facing America.

In this picture look at the Japanese flag flying on Guam Island where once the Stars and Stripes were unfurled.

CONGRESSMAN SMITH WAS WRONG

Congressman Smith says in his advertisement, Page 13, Oct. 31, 1940, Marion Star:

HE VOTED AGAINST AN AIRPLANE CARRIER BILL BECAUSE "WE DO NOT NEED AIR-PLANE CARRIERS TO DEFEND OUR SHORES."

It is almost terrifying to think what could happen to America if by any chance any large percentage of the Members of Congress should be handicapped by such bad judgment and lack of foresight as Congressman Smith advertises when he said "WE DO NOT NEED AIR-PLANE CARRIERS TO DEFEND OUR SHORES."

IN WARTIME IT IS DANGEROUS TO KEEP IN CONGRESS MEN OF DR. SMITH'S BAD JUDGMENT!

If Congressman Smith and such bad judgment in opposing America's Defense Plans before the war, what kind of judgment could be expected to see when Peace Plans are up for consideration AFTER the war.

Ask any of the men landed and why American Marines who on Dec. 13, 1941, fought for their lives in defense of Guam Island, which Congressman Smith refused to help fortify,—ask these men they would vote on congressional candidates if they could be here next Tuesday.

His Record Of Bad Judgment Shows You How

When America Was In Danger

The Enquirer says Congressman Smith's Speech Against "Military Training" Was "Myopic If Not Unpatriotic." . . .

Don't Let Big Full-Page Ads and Radio Talks
Of Congressman Dr. Frederick C. Smith
Mislead You On His REAL Record in Congress

You know that for four long years everybody in this 8th District has been reading about Congressman Dr. Frederick C. Smith's bad record of voting wrong against so many important legislative measures vitally needed for the defense and the welfare of America. We are at war now. We need in Congress men of better judgment.

Congressman Smith's big newspaper ads and radio talks that try to defend his record cannot confuse, mislead or make the people forget his REAL record of bad voting against so many measures needed to provide our soldiers with ships, guns and planes to defend themselves and to save America.

The fact that Congressman Smith ran more than eight thousand votes behind the head of his ticket at the last election is proof that the voters will not be misled by radio talks and big, full-page ads this time.

Space Permits Only a Few Of Many Examples Of Bad Judgment Showing You How Congressman
Smith Failed America When America Was In Danger

May 8, 1939 Congressman Smith, Failed America when he voted Against the Naval Establishment Bill.

May 24, 1939, Smith Failed America by voting against the Coast Guard Bill for the Expansion of our Naval Defense. The loss of life along our Coast has been heavy and would be heavier still had Congressman Smith succeeded in defeating this Defense Measure.

June 30, 1939, Congressman Smith voted Against shipping arms to other Nations for self-defense

March 12, 1940, Congressman Smith of Maine, Famed America by voting Against Naval Expansion.

Aug 12, 1941, Congressman Smith Failed America, by voting to disband a large part of the American Army just four months before we were attacked by Japan.

Oct 17, 1941, Congressman Smith Failed America, by voting Against Arming Merchant Vessels that were soon to be attacked by submarines. Had Congressman Smith had his way our sailors would have been defenseless for lack of arms.

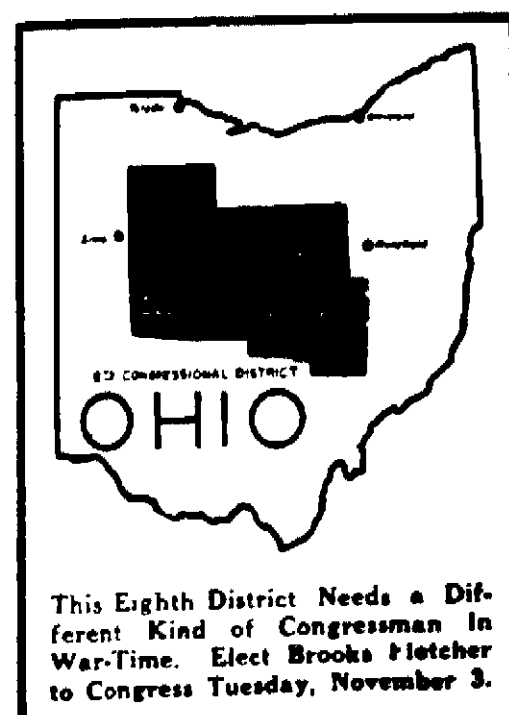

These are only few of the many examples of how Congressman Frederick Smith failed America when America was in danger. Nov. 3rd elect to Congress men of better judgment. What would have happened to America had the majority of the men in Congress and the bad judgement shown by Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion?

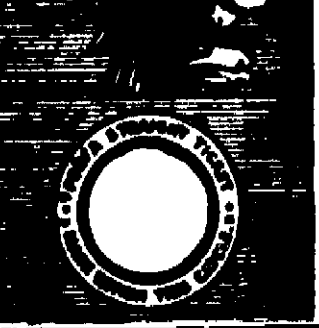

This 8th District needs a new Congressman who will go to work for you, stay on the job and NOT play politics.

ASKS LIFTING OF SCHOOL BAN

Teacher Opposes Restriction Against Married Girls in Classes.

By The Associated Press
Rules preventing married girls from attending some Ohio high schools should be suspended, a state health department representative believes.
Mrs. Bertha Ashby Hess, health department lecturer, told the Northeastern Ohio Education association at Cleveland yesterday that schools must meet the war bride problem with understanding and intelligence and that where regulations against married girls exist educators should work for their suspension. (Mrs. Hess was a recent visitor in Marion and spoke at several meetings and school assemblies.)
Schools advisors should not assume that married girls no longer need guidance, she added, for even if the war bride does not become a widow "she will need all our support in the next few years."

Suspend for Duration

The group gave its executive committee authority to discontinue annual meetings, if necessary, while the Eastern district at Marietta voted to cancel general sessions for the duration of the war and the central group at Columbus scheduled a vote on the question today.

Only the central and southwestern associations were meeting today.

Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago asserted at Columbus that children should be given a liberal education in 12 years instead of 14 or 16.

He criticized duplication and overlapping in the American educational system, commenting: "We know the system is full of waste, water and frivolity. But we know, too, that we have no time for these things now."

Dr. Roma Goss of Teachers College, Columbia university, told the Southeastern association at Athens that the victory program was "forcing the child into too many camps when he should be guided in fundamental."

Want Central Time

The Northwestern association in Toledo petitioned the legislature to return the state to the central standard time belt. Officials said parents complained about their children having to board school buses before daylight in the winter. The group elected C. D. Brillhart of Napoleon president.

Officers elected in other districts included:
Central — B. H. Armstrong, Dayton, president.
Northeastern — Miss Alma M.

Enemy Broadcasts Report Convoy Battle

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 31 — The Germans broadcast today a special announcement, without any allied confirmation, that great convoy battles were raging in the Atlantic and that in one attack yesterday U-boats sank 18 allied merchantmen totalling 131,000 tons near the Canary Islands.
These ships were enroute to Britain from a South American port with raw materials, according to a Rome broadcast, which credited the claim to the German propaganda ministry.
A direct broadcast from Berlin, which was interrupted by atmospheric difficulties, indicated the high command had issued a special communique covering this reported action.

Nazis "Win" Sea Victory To Boost Week-End Morale

(This daily feature, conducted by Dr. Will Stassen, was an exact new version of the war news column which was published by the Associated Press during the war.)

The German high command announcement yesterday that U-boats in the North Atlantic had attacked a fully-laden convoy on its way to Britain, "sinking" nine ships totalling 68,500 tons, "has a familiar ring to persons who get themselves into a critical state of mind before reading axis reports."

The announcement sounds suspiciously like that late-in-the-week stimulant to German morale which the shrewd propagandists of the Wilhelmstrasse often find necessary on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

One consideration prompting the cautious reader to regard such reports suspiciously is, of course, the record of proved exaggerations in Berlin and Rome recently.

In the sprightly victory in the tag end of the week is a well established device in war reporting. It is based on the studies of psychologists who helped to plan the war. Their investigations have revealed that fluctuating German morale sags toward the end of a week.

Earlier in the war it was comparatively simple. Usually there were enough legitimate victories to keep morale afloat.

Recently, however, the emotional lows haven't been overcome so readily. No one in Germany can see the end of the war which was supposed to be over so quickly.

Some German psychologists have held out for a fine communique on Sunday, but it appears that recently the better thought has been that on Sunday the German has enough other diversions to take care of his morale. The most categorical and complete example of a wishful German communique yet to be issued was dictated by Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Late in September the axis spread official reports that "several large ocean-going liners heavily laden with American troops" had been torpedoed. The commander of United States army forces in Europe waited three weeks and then, in a formal statement, said:

"These claims are completely unfounded, and are merely another example of the untrustworthiness of Nazi reports."

BIG PAPER INDUSTRY PUT UNDER CONTROL

U. S. and Canada Act To Impose Restrictions.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 31 — The great paper-making business of North America, producing more than half the world's supply, went under joint United States-Canadian restriction today, in the first wartime continental conservation plan embracing an entire civilian industry.

In parallel orders effective at midnight tonight, the war production board in Washington and the wartime civil control administration in Ottawa have forbidden manufacturers of paper, including newsprint, book and magazine papers, to produce more than their average rate of output in the six months ended Sept. 30.

Both government bodies warned this was a preliminary step to curtailment of production in the near future. Paper industry authorities estimated that rates at which production is being frozen are substantially at the current rate of consumption.

Further curtailment, paper sources estimated, would bring production below demand and begin to eat into stocks. Although inventories are well above pre-war levels in most lines of paper, American newspapers have an average of 66 days supply—plans to regulate inventories and use are in the making.

The joint orders, announced in Washington and Ottawa yesterday, already forbid a manufacturer to deliver to a consumer, or a consumer to accept, a shipment which would boost his inventory above a 90-day supply.

Representatives of the paper industry said no rationing among United States users of newsprint appeared necessary as the order now stands, but that plans for such steps probably would be taken up shortly by the WPB printing and publishing branch in the case of printing papers, in consultation with publishers.

The Cincinnati Enquirer
Takes Congressman Smith To Task For OPPOSING Military Training Program
This 8th District Needs A New Congressman In War-Time

For more than twenty years the War Veterans Organizations of America advocated policy of Military Training as a program of Preparedness for National Defense.

But, true to form, as an "AGAINSTER" Congressman Dr. Frederick Smith, of Marion, a speech opposed early Military Training. Severely criticizing Dr. Smith's wrong attitude, the Cincinnati Enquirer, in a strong editorial of protest, July 16, '40, denounced Congressman Smith's speech as "FANTASTIC MISREPRESENTATION, AMAZINGLY MYOPIC, IF NOT PATRIOTIC, PATENT NONSENSE."

Congressman Dr. Frederick C. Smith
Thus Failed America When America Was Facing Coming Danger

This is just another illustration of how Congressman Smith, of Marion, FAILED AMERICA WHEN AMERICA WAS FACING COMING DANGER.

Is this the kind of a Congressman the people of this 8th Congressional District represent them in Congress in war time and when America's Peace Plans come up at war?

One wrong-voting Congressman with Dr. Smith's bad record of wrong-voting America's early Defense Plans could, in a close tie-vote wreck vital legislation essential to the safety of the Nation. This was tragically illustrated when he voted to dismiss a major of our Army only a short time before Pearl Harbor. The Army was saved by only one vote in the House. CAN WE AFFORD TO TAKE CHANCES IN WAR TIME?

You men in uniform, you mothers, fathers, wives, and betrothed who have sons, husbands and sweethearts in the Service and You Veterans — all of you will have an opportunity for the removal of Congressman Smith on this Tuesday, Nov. 3rd by electing Brooks Fletcher to Congress to back up our soldiers and our government in winning the war and in winning Peace after the War.

America Faces A Doctor Shortage, and Dr. Smith is Needed at Home.

So on this Tuesday, Nov. 3rd let us put Patriotism and Americanism above partisanship.

Gregor Ziemer To Give Talk at Club Federation Program

To Speak Tuesday Night at Palace Theater Inter-viewed Hitler.

Not a fantastic but true, intimate glimpse of Hitler, the man about him and the causes that contributed to his rise will be a part of the talk to be given by Gregor Ziemer, WLW news commentator, Tuesday night at the Palace theater under auspices of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs. Mr. Ziemer's talk will be the second number on the federation's series of programs this year.

Since his return to America Ziemer has won attention through his book, "Education for Death." He is the only American, he believes, who has copies of Hitler's Youth songs, which he smuggled out of Germany under the pretext of wanting to show them to his friends in America. The songs are hymns of hate and vengeance and glory to the Fuehrer.

"I fear that if the German customs official who let me take those pictures and books out of Germany knew what I really think of them, he would put himself into a concentration camp as a very poor Nazi who let a very nasty American slip through his fingers," Ziemer declared when talking about his prizes, which include, among others, also the official teachers' manual used by Nazi teachers.

During his stay in Germany, Ziemer persuaded the Gestapo to allow him to visit Nazi schools where he saw classes conducted by men in uniform; to visit Nazi hospitals during the sterilization of Jews; to fraternize with members of the labor camps; to act as a super in Nazi camps; to observe the "plebiscites"; to interview Hitler; and to receive from his adjutant a set of authentic copies of Hitler's paintings.

By The Associated Press
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31—Medical supervision has not been set up to space child births among the married of America's 4,000,000 women war workers.

That was the charge made today by Eva Dodge, M. D., of the state health department at Montgomery, Ala. Speaking to the American Public Health Association, she declared that only in a few areas is child spacing service under medical supervision now available.

"We must keep in mind," she said, "that even though women are being called upon to carry out industrial tasks, they still have the function of bearing children, children they want and the country needs."

"One of the dangers to babies and to mothers is pregnancies occurring at too short intervals, coupled with fatigue due to employment in industry while trying to carry on home duties at the same time."

She maintained that abortions would increase unless there is reliable spacing information made available to women in war work. In normal years, she pointed out, 90 per cent of the illegal abortions are among married women. She said that the total number of abortions annually is estimated at 750,000.

If You Believe

- That we need more action and less politics.

- That our money should buy weapons for our fighting men.
- That reckless, wasteful spending by bureaucrats must stop.
- That Sound State and Local government is the first line of home defense.
- THAT A DETERMINED POLICY TO SAVE TAX-PAYERS' MONEY BY STATE AND COUNTY OFFICIALS IS SOUND IN TIME OF PEACE AND AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY IN TIME OF WAR.

Then YOU SHOULD ELECT men who are pledged to support these principles:

Irish Close Local Season in Easy Win; Linemen Star.

MAKING their final 1942 home appearance, a heretofore air-minded St. Mary grid eleven put into use a powerful ground attack for the first time this year, scored virtually at will and came up a 38-0 winner over Lima St. Rose last night at Harding stadium.

For the Marions it was the third win in six starts while the defeat was St. Rose's third in four games.

Rated at best as an even choice in pre-game estimates, St. Mary roared back in the second period after being stalemated in the first to score two touchdowns and demolish any doubt as to the superiority of the Irish.

Irish backfield operating from under the drop a page after three in the third and fourth quarters.

Scoring Distributed

While scoring in the first, St. Mary's attack was concentrated on one play, a different play being used in each quarter. The result was a 38-0 victory.

Kelly, Bob Murphy, Dan McGinnis and Jim Lavelle, Norris and Paul Ring scored St. Mary's two extra points on placement.

Outstanding in the St. Mary victory, as in the two previous wins, was a hard-charging line which consistently opened up holes for the Irish backfield.

Others singled out by Coach Gene Pether for exceptional play in the line were End Bob Winter-

Bob Murphy again was the leading Irish ground gainer, but Dan McGinnis and Steve Norris pressed the speedy fullback for top rating.

While running almost at will for touchdowns, the local eleven bottled up Lima's ace backfield linemen, Jimmy Schenk, in a game with Pandora last week, Schenk scored 26 points as the St. Rose team won a 27-26 defeat.

Norris First to Score

Four minutes after the start of the second quarter St. Mary started a 78-yard drive climaxed by a beautiful 22-yard touchdown sprint. Halting a brief Lima drive on their own 21-yard line, the Saints sent Fullback Murphy off right tackle for three yards. McGinnis tipped through the same hole for four more yards and Norris dashed for 12 yards and a first down on the St. Mary 43.

Murphy scored around right end for 28 yards before being pulled down on the Lima 29 by Lima's Jimmy Schenk. A Moran to McGinnis aerial was incomplete and Murphy made seven yards on an off-tackle drive. On a trick play, Norris cut through guard for 22 yards and a touchdown. Paul Ring's attempted conversion was good to give St. Mary a 7-0 lead.

Three plays after Ring kicked off to Lima, a blocked kick gave the Irish another score. Ring's kickoff was taken by Schenk on the Lima 14 and brought back eight yards to the Lima 22. Schenk made one yard on a reverse and Maurer added two on a line buck. On third down, Lima elected to kick. Maurer's kick was blocked by End Frank Tobin, who rushed in to break up the play. End Bob Wintersteller beat out a confused Lima secondary in a race for the extra point. He scooped it up on the Lima 10 and raced across untouched. Ring's attempt for the extra point was no good.

Neither team threatened in the six remaining minutes of the period.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—There's many a ship which is about as good a way as any to sum up the prospects for the big-league hockey season that starts tonight.

Nobody knows now it will end, but you can figure that its showing will be a good indication of the future of baseball and other sports.

For instance, with about 40 per cent of last year's players already in the armed forces, hockey clubs are loading up with guys like Eddie Goodfellow and Sweeney Schriner, who either had retired or were about to retire, using former third-stringers and minor leaguers in some of the more important spots and bringing in as many 17 and 18 rookies as they can.

Today's Guest Star—Kenneth Jones, Peoria, Ill., Journal-Transcript: "An unbeatable football team is one that is living on borrowed time."

Tip on Today's Georgia-Alabama Game: Wally Butts, Georgia coach, never has lost twice to the same team—and Alabama beat the Crackers last year.

Called upon to tell New York football writers something about his old high school coaching rival, Paul Brown of Ohio State, Ensign Larry Glaser of the Manhattan Beach coast guard told them what a great guy he is.

Then concluded: "I'd still like to be associated with a team that knocks the socks off him."

Praise Brown and pass the ammunition.

Future Book For ALL-AMERICA

October finds the dozens of contenders for All-America rating going at top speed. As the season moves along each knows he must add to his reputation every Saturday or surrender his hopes. Here are several players whose performances to date tab them as real threats.

Wisconsin's Dave Schneider, 1941 All-America end, hopes to repeat. He starred against Notre Dame, caught three touchdowns passes against Marquette.

Minnesota's George Franck in 1940, Bruce Smith in 1941 earned top ratings. Now the Gophers say halfback Bill Daley is just as good, perhaps better than those standouts.

Bill Henderson, Texas Aggie end, made the third All-America last season. His play in early games stamps him as a contender for top honors this year.

Massillon Tigers Run Win Streak to 50 Games

MASSILLON, O., Oct. 31—The Tigers of Massillon, Washington High school have run their string of unbeaten football games to 50.

The latest victims, 32 to 0, were the Warren Harding High Presidents. Left Halfback Bob Graber and Right Halfback Keve Bray each got a pair of touchdowns.

Quarterback Cardinal had one, and although Fullback Chuck Holt's only scoring was a pair of extra points, he outgained the entire Harding team from scrimmage.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 31—The Western conference's only undefeated football team this season—Ohio State and Wisconsin—played today and with victory went the way of a favorite to defeat the Big Ten title. A crowd of about 40,000 was expected for the game, one of the nation's most attractive. The game was expected to attract approximately 13 million viewers on the radio.

The Buckeye's victory in the Western conference's only undefeated football team this season—Ohio State and Wisconsin—played today and with victory went the way of a favorite to defeat the Big Ten title.
